Wisconsin Hearing Reveals Massive Voter Anomalies

(1 COMMENT)

Dec. 8, 2021

The Wisconsin Assembly Committee on Campaigns and Elections (<https://docs.legis.wisconsin.gov/2021/committees/assembly/2354>) hosted a hearing on Wednesday (<https://wiseye.org/2021/12/08/assembly-committee-on-campaigns-and-elections-23/>). The election probe heard testimony several people, including Jeff O'Donnell, a veteran software and database engineer. O'Donnell's testimony revealed massive problems with the integrity of Wisconsin's elections.

Here's a takeaway of the key points:

- Although Wisconsin's population is 5.8 million with approximately 4.5 million eligible to vote, there are more than 7 million separate voter records, suggesting that voters are placed on inactive status rather than being removed.
- 157,000 voters in Wisconsin have the same registration number.
- Approximately 3.3 million Wisconsinites voted in the 2020 election, representing 93.7% of the state's 3.5 million active voters.
- 121,251 active Wisconsin voters have been registered for 110 to 119 years; in total, more than 500,000 active and inactive voters have a January 1, 1918 registration date. O'Donnell pointed out that while that date may have been used as a placeholder when information was missing, 500,000 is an alarmingly high number.

- In total, 42,000 voters who voted in the 2020 election are now listed inactive. O'Donnell said that even factoring in changes of address, 42,000 is an “excessive” number of deactivations for recently active voters.

- According to the Wisconsin Legislative Audit Bureau report \(LAB\). (<https://legis.wisconsin.gov/lab/media/3288/21-19full.pdf>), 957,977 voters registered as new voters in 2020; 45,665 of these new voters registered with a driver's license that did not match DMV records.

O'Donnell concluded by saying the irregularities and red flags found by his report and others indicate a huge potential for nefarious actors to access the Wisconsin registration system and game the system.

Simple solution, completely purge (i.e. delete) the voter rolls following every election. Let everyone who wants to vote register for the next election.
